Summary of responses

Question 1: Do you believe that MP219 should be approved or rejected?

Question 1
Respondent	Category	Response	Rationale
Chameleon Technology	Other SEC Party	Approve	Implied consent will help facilitate Energy Consumers' management of their consumption by simplifying the processes involved for them in line with SEC Objective (c).
Drax	Small Supplier	Approve	-
National Grid Electricity Distribution	Network Party	Approve	-
N3rgy	Other SEC Party	Approve	This enables a far smoother customer journey for Energy Suppliers customers who are offered an Energy Data related service, such as visualisation platforms and DFS services. This is also required to enable non-domestic energy suppliers to outsource to expert partners for the compliance of Maximising Non-Domestic Smart Meter Consumer Benefits. https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/media/629752a78fa8f5038dcd28b5/maximising-non-domestic-smart-meter-data-offer-industry-guidance.pdf
Utilita	Large Supplier	Reject	We believe this negatively affects General SEC Objective (f). We agree with Ofgem's views that there are sufficiently numerous and robust methods to gain Unambiguous Consent that render this modification unnecessary. We further believe that allowing any 3rd party, regardless of their intent or legitimacy of use of data, to inherit permissions rather than gaining these directly from the Consumer would negatively impact the reputation of the Smart Metering Implementation Project
